

Eng. Kelys Ventura

“Bolivarian University of Venezuela”

Email: kelysavh1974@gmail.com

ORCID code: <https://orcid.org/0009-0000-3286-3474>

How to cite this article: “Kelys Ventura. Community Education Brigades Within Community Development for the Strengthening of the Family, Juan German Roció Municipal School, Guárico State. (2024), (1,15)

Received: 17/02/2024 Revised: 20/02/2025 Accepted: 25/02/2024

Community Education Brigades Within Community Development for the Strengthening of the Family, Juan German Roció Municipal School, Guárico State.

ABSTRACT

Leading participation allows decision-making and public management to develop conflict scenarios, knowing the reality that exists in the environment, the capabilities of the people are required and with the organization of the Bolivarian National Armed Forces, it is difficult to maintain conflicts aside, as a consequence of this, it is important to establish and formulate public policies in strengthening Popular Power, a participatory action research methodology is assumed, from a qualitative-quantitative approach with a socio-critical paradigm, the lack of communication, participation citizen, organization, is a phenomenon that today is a barrier in the processes of community development, with the general objective, Develop an organizational strategy in community education brigades within community development for the strengthening of the family, school in the German Rocio municipality of the Guárico state, empirical methods such as observation and interviews were used to capture the problems and the results were developed through analysis, synthesis, history and logic that allowed the strategy to be resolved through an action plan In conclusion, the BRICOMILES through the Bolivarian National Armed Forces with the community is a task of precision and strategy that allows breaking paradigms to strengthen community development, it is interesting that these two societies work in synergy to achieve better benefits in the community strengthening the education sector.

Descriptors: Community Development, Community Brigades, Organization, Participation.

Biographical Review: Professor at the Bolivarian University of Venezuela, Geopolitical Axis José Félix Ribas, colonel From the Bolivarian Military Aviation, Head of the Division of National Development and Special Security Regime of the ZODI Guárico No. 35. Industrial Mechanical Engineer.